

XIV Olinca Model United Nations 2017

Welcome Letter
February 24th & 25th

This year Olinca will be hosting the fourteenth edition of OLINMUN and I have been given the pleasure and tremendous honor and responsibility of being Secretary General for the event, working as a team with my under secretaries Andrés Maldonado Solís and Ana Paula Sámano Ortega. The three of us designed the model and selected the secretariat which in turn selected the topics for their respective committees. All this hard work has been done for the purpose of making this year's OLINMUN the best ever.

Throughout the years that Olinca has hosted this event, we have become more and more ambitious by implementing new ideas each year in order to improve the quality of your debates and help you. Some of the committees which had been used for several years were replaced by others and we also included a new secretariat role specifically to help you: the Intelligence Advisor.

Throughout this event, junior high school and high school first graders will be debating a variety of topics, such as the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction in the Middle East, the social crisis in Venezuela or the economic impact of monopolies in Mexico.

OLINMUN is an event which all of you are meant to enjoy but we also expect you to be respectful, to work hard and to take it very seriously. To you we entrust the enforcement of dialogue, communication, respect, collaboration and tolerance. As the Secretary General I look forward to meeting you.

Best regards,

José Eduardo Maguey Nocedal
Secretary General 2017
